

Katie Porter
Acting Deputy Director for Government Relations
CARE USA

Katie Porter joined CARE as a Senior Policy Advocate focusing on maternal health issues in February 2009. She is in charge of CARE's legislative activities on maternal health, an advocacy priority for the organization. Ms. Porter is currently Acting Director of Government Relations. Prior to joining CARE, she was a Senior Legislative Policy Analyst at Population Action International, where she focused on the links between sexual and reproductive health and HIV prevention. She previously served as a Health Legislative Assistant, working on domestic and international health care issues including legislation that created the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR), for then-Rep. Sherrod Brown (D-OH), who is now a U.S. senator.
